

Dies Committee Suppressed Bias Report, Is Charge

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
WASHINGTON—Charging the Dies Committee on un-American Activities with suppressing, in its annual report, facts concerning the anti-Semitic propaganda conducted by pro-Axis organizations in America, Rep. Jerry Voorhis of California, a member of the committee, this week made public a one-man minority report in which he dissents from certain conclusions set forth in the Dies' report which was released this week.

In its report, the Dies Committee defends itself for failing to make public the results of closed hearings in anti-Semitic activities held in January, 1942. "The character of the testimony given," the report says, "was, by and large of such extreme and fanatical tenor that in the opinion of this committee no good purpose could have been served by taking it in public."

Round Table of Air On Forum Sunday

The University of Chicago Round Table of the Air will be brought to Kirshbaum Center at 8:15 p. m., Sunday, Jan. 10, as a presentation of the Indianapolis Open Forum. "Is the Free Enterprise System Doomed," will be the subject of discussion by Louis Wirth, Neil H. Jacoby and Henry Bloch, all members of the University of Chicago faculty.

Professor Wirth, author of "The City," "The Ghetto," and numerous other studies, is now associate dean of the division of social sciences in the University of Chicago. Neil H. Jacoby, professor of finance, was financial advisor to the premier of Saskatchewan and the governor of Illinois before he was 30. Dr. Bloch, member of the staff of the Social Science Research Committee and lecturer at the institute of military studies of the University of Chicago, appeared on the Open Forum last year and returns by popular request.

Blind Publisher Dies in Fall

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEWARK, N. J.—Anton Kaufman, blind publisher of The Newark Jewish Chronicle and one of the most prominent leaders in Jewish affairs in New Jersey, lost his life in a fall from his eighth-floor room in the Robert Treat Hotel here. The 65-year-old publisher is believed to have fallen out of a window of his room in attempting to lower the sash. Mr. Kaufman lost his sight in 1931. After working on several English and German language newspapers he established the Detroit Jewish Chronicle in 1914 and was its publisher until 1918. He founded The Newark Jewish Chronicle in 1921.

Magnes Explains Bi-National State Plans in U. S. Magazine

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Declaring that "the ordinary Jew and the ordinary Arab have no hatred for one another," Dr. Judah L. Magnes, president of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, in an article in the January issue of Foreign Affairs urges that the United States join Britain "in helping find and, if necessary, impose a reasonable compromise" between Jewish and Arab aspirations in Palestine.

"The first step—and the sooner it is taken the better—should be an announcement that the adjustment will not include either the establishment of Palestine as a Jewish state or as an Arab state," Dr. Magnes writes. "Such an announcement might help dissipate the increasingly bellicose atmosphere and might, perhaps, turn both Jewish and Arab propaganda, in the direction of peace and understanding." The search for a compromise between the Jews and the Arabs, Dr. Magnes believes, might well be furthered by the selection of a few Englishmen and Americans to cooperate with Jews and Arabs in canvassing the possibilities of such a compromise. Dr. Magnes then makes the following concrete suggestions:

"1. Union between the Jews and the Arabs within a bi-national Palestine."

"2. Union of Palestine, Syria and the Lebanon in an economic and political federation. These lands form a geographic unit and constituted a political and economic Union at several times between ancient Semitic days and the First World War."

"3. Union of this federation with an Anglo-American union which is assumed to be part of that greater union of the free nations now laboring to be born out of the ruins of the decaying world."

Explaining these points in detail, Dr. Magnes says that if the political equality of the Jews and the Arabs in Palestine is accepted as part of the compromise to be reached between the two peoples, then "there seems to be no good reason why a beginning should not be made now with a bi-national administration, so that officials may be trained as soon as possible for the great tasks which confront them." He emphasizes that the time to begin to prepare the Jews and the Arabs for responsibility in a bi-national Palestine is now and not after the war.

Touching on the question of Jewish immigration to Palestine, Dr. Magnes expresses the belief that a union of Palestine, Transjordan, Syria and Lebanon in an economic and political federation, if and when formed, would solve this problem. "The whole question of numbers in Palestine would then lose its present primary significance for the Arabs," he writes. "For a federation of the four states in question, whatever its form, would include an Arab population of several million. The Arabs would be relieved of their fear of being swamped and dominated by a majority of Jews. A Jewish majority in the federation is hardly conceivable."

Friends of University Protest Magnes Proposal

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—The friends of the Hebrew University in Palestine held a meeting in Tel Aviv and adopted a resolution protesting against the activities of Dr. J. L. Magnes in behalf of the establishment of a bi-national state in Palestine. The meeting expressed regret over the fact that "the Hebrew University is headed by a person who is conducting propaganda which is contradictory to the spirit of the Yishuv and of the Jewish people."

SWEDES DEPLORE DEPORTATIONS

(By Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

STOCKHOLM—The deportation of the Jews from Norway in November is the political occurrence of 1942 which will be the longest remembered by the Swedish people, it was disclosed here this week as the result of a public opinion poll conducted by the Stockholm office of the Gallup Institute among a cross-section of the Swedish population.

The Institute asked: "Which foreign political occurrence do you think will be remembered the longest from 1942?" Twenty-five per cent of all the voters chose the Jewish deportation. Next came the battle for Stalingrad with 13 per cent and the American invasion of North Africa with 9 per cent. The results were broadcast over the Stockholm radio.

USO Centers To Be Explained

The monthly meeting of the Joseph and Anna Borinstein Home for the Aged to be held on Tuesday, Jan. 26 in the auditorium of Beth El-Zedeck Temple, will be addressed, by Rabbi Israel Chodos, speaking on "Old Wine in New Bottles," and by women of the Indianapolis Service Men's Centers Inc. Mrs. Dorothy Buschmann, executive director and Miss Helen Hartinger, director of the Center at 502 N. Illinois St., will make a brief presentation of the work, and Mrs. Hortense Rauh Burpee will explain the functioning of Pantry Shelf, Inc., combined with the Illinois St. Center.

ENGLISH CHIEF RABBI COMPANION OF HONOR; ONE OF FORTY IN BRITISH EMPIRE

(By Jewish Telegraphic Agency)

LONDON—Chief Rabbi Joseph Herman Hertz was created a "Companion of Honor" in the annual New Year's Honors List issued by the King. There are only some forty-odd "Companions of Honor" in the entire British empire, including such notables as Prime Minister Churchill and Prime Minister Jan Smuts of South Africa.

Commenting on the award, the Manchester Guardian states that "it is not only a personal tribute to Rabbi Hertz but a timely expression of sympathy for the afflictions of the Jews." The Board of Deputies of British Jews, in a

B'nai B'rith Nets Nearly $2,000,000 In Huge Bond Rally

Final sales for the New Year's eve bond rally sponsored by B'nai B'rith this week totalled $1,892,500 from all congregations.

Results from individual congregations were tabulated as follows:

Beth El	$1,131,550
Indpls. Hebrew Cong.	625,425
Central Hebrew Cong.	55,875
Shara Tefila	33,000
Sephardic	27,700
Knesses Israel	16,950
United Hebrew, Work men's Circle, etc.	2,000
	$1,892,500

Although each congregation responded amazingly, the Sephardic group was reported to have made the most complete response, with over 100 per cent of the congregation making bond purchases. Herman Nahmias, recently killed in action with Gen. MacArthur's forces belonged to this congregation, and the members chose this way of avenging his death.

Sam Hoffman, of Knesses Israel, sold bonds to more individuals than any member of any team. Eph Levin, unaided, collected the prizes for auction, and Dorothy Schlesinger audited and made the financial reports on the affair.

On the Beth El bond selling team were Robert Stolkin, Phil Greenwald, and Mrs. Henry Blatt. Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation workers were Dave Cook, Dr. Harry Jacobs, Mrs. Walter Lichtenstein and Mrs. Julian Schwab, while Alex Schuchman, Lepot Frankovitz and Rabbi Nandor Fruchter did the job for Central Hebrew. Shara Tefila sales were made by Phil Kraft and Louis Barnett and the Sephardic congregation purchased from Isaac Aroesti and David Calderon. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hochman sold to Knesses Israel members.

HAROLD FLEIG WRITES OF LIFE IN AFRICA

Sgt. Harold Fleig, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Fleig, 53 W. 32nd St., has recently written some interesting letters from his post in Africa. In one letter he says, in part, "Yesterday we played a big parade and there were many, many camera men about. Our band led the whole works, except for one jeep and about five officers on foot, so watch the papers and news reels.

"In the morning we played a concert for the French sailors and we were royally entertained by them afterwards. Many of them spoke a little English and were the most hospitable people I've ever seen." (Harold can be sure that we'll all be watching the newsreels.)

And now we quote the whole of one of his interesting letters giving the local color so well that you can almost smell it! Dearest Parents:

I am now permitted to tell you that I am residing in the town of Fedala (FAY-de-LA) in French Morocco, in N. W. Africa! Surprisingly enough the weather is quite cool except for a few hours in the afternoon. I wear wool underwear and often a field jacket! The climate is comparable to that of S. Carolina I'd say.

But here's the pay off. We are living in a sardine cannery!!! Can you smell it on this paper?

The trip was entirely uneventful and perhaps for that reason extremely tedious (for which I'm thankful.)

Fedala is quite fascinating and of course different from anything I've ever seen before. Arabs wander about aimlessly, many of the women veiled or in place of the veil, tattoo marks. Some of them are unspeakably filthy and I contend that anyone from the States who is only a luke-warm patriot while there, will become a red-hot, rabid American once he sees another country.

I had $10 when I landed (I won $5 of that because we were not with British Isles) and for that I got 750 francs. That should last me for the duration; for 2 reasons—one, things are very cheap, and two, there are so few things to buy. The Germans are milking the area of 90 per cent of their produce, I've heard, and in the short time that we've been FAMILY'S IN ARMY, SO—MEET 4-STAR KAPLANS!

HAMMOND — Mr. and Mrs. Sol Kaplan are "four star" parents. They have given four sons to the U. S. armed forces.

Cpl. Norman Kaplan is carrying out administrative duties at Fort Benjamin Harrison, where Pvt. Eugene Kaplan is awaiting transfer for basic training.

Pvt. Milton Kaplan, who has been in service for six months, is stationed at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., in the Air Force administrative work.

Pfc. Bernard Kaplan, whose wife, Jean, lives in Minneapolis, is training at Camp Adair, Ore. He was inducted last July.

here, the people are said to have felt benefits in getting more food already.

Its really wonderful the way they are taking care of us. Today we were given razor blades, tobacco, tooth paste, shampoo, shaving cream, etc., etc.

The architecture here is very interesting. Wood is scarce and all the buildings, houses, etc., are made of light colored cement plaster. Very cheery. The soil is extremely rich and there are unusual plants, etc. here.

So far every thing has been great fun. The nights here are amazingly bright and the air is always clean. I'm in excellent health and in good spirits and the encouraging news reports of the last several days sure sound great. eh?

I'll have a peck of interesting stories to tell when we get together again and I sure pray that it will be soon.

I send you all my love and kisses—be very careful and take care of yourselves. HAROLD.

And another note comes from one of our boys:

To the editor,
Just a note so that the Post can be forwarded to me here at my new station. Boy, I miss that wonderful paper. I was always able to keep in contact with local affairs and my friends in the service.

Yours for continued good luck,
LT. J. E. ZUKERMAN.

DECORATIONS AWARDED JEWISH SOLDIERS: ONE GETS PURPLE HEART SECOND TIME

(By Jewish Telegraphic Agency)
NEW YORK—Jews who have distinguished themselves in the bitter fighting in the Pacific from Alaska down to New Guinea are listed in a report of decorations recently awarded Jewish men, issued here this week by the Jewish Welfare Board.

The unusual honor of being awarded the coveted Purple Heart medal twice has been won by a 22-year-old corporal from New York City, Morris Moskowitz. The first award was made for disabling wounds suffered in the fighting in the Southwest Pacific and the second for dragging to safety the crew of a burning bomber which had cracked up when taking off at an advanced occupational base in Port Moresby.

Another Purple Heart has been awarded posthumously to Private Joseph Sharp, also 22, of Philadelphia. The award was made by Major Gen. Buckner, head of the Alaska Defense Command, for "meritorious acts" by Sharp during the Japanese assault on Alaska.

The "Silver Star" of the Army Air Corps has been given to Lieut. Emmanuel Sitkin, 24, of Newark, New Jersey, attached to a bomber squadron in the Pacific, for the accuracy of his bombing during an Allied attack on Japanese-held positions in New Guinea, which did heavy damage to enemy installations.

Capt. David Rosen has been transferred from Ft. Rodman, Mass. to the Army Medical School in Washington, D. C.

Capt. Meyer Efroymsen has returned to Ft. Leonard Wood after spending a five-day furlough in Indianapolis.

Eddie Cohn has been a visitor here while on a recent furlough.

Promotion to Corporal awaited Robert H. Marks, on his return to Dallas, Tex., after a recent furlough. He is stationed with the 8th Service Command.

Pvt. Philip Solomon of New York, brother of D. Michael Solomon, is stationed at Camp Atterbury with the Headquarters Co., 31st Signal Const. Bn.

A new first lieutenant at Ft. Sill, Okla. is Charles B. Feibleman of Indianapolis, who has recently been promoted to that rank.

Pvt. Marty Toledo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Toledo, 1145 S. Illinois street, is one of three men at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., who have bought $1,650 worth of war bonds together in six months.

The Army got what should have been a physically perfect specimen last Saturday when Norman Weisman, former athletic director at Kirshbaum Center, was inducted. Norman had been at the Kirshbaum for six years, and it won't look right to peek into the gym and not find Norm's portly form gracefully batting out badminton.

LAFAYETTE — Pvt. Meyer Freedman, son of Rabbi and Mrs. A. B. Freedman has been transferred from Fort Harrison to Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

LAFAYETTE — Staff Sergeant Jacob Elkin, son of Mrs. Sara Elkin has been appointed to officers' training school in Aberdeen, Md. Sergeant Elkin served in the U. S. Navy before enlisting in the Army Air Corps in January.

LAFAYETTE — Private John Loewenthal, grandnephew of Mrs. Solomon Loeb has been transferred from Fort Harrison to Camp Lee, Va.

GERMAN-AMERICANS DENOUNCE KILLINGS

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—A message denouncing the "cold-blooded extermination of the Jews in Europe" and condemning the barbarities committed by the Nazis against other innocent civilians was issued this week by prominent Americans of German descent, who appealed to the German people "to overthrow a regime which is the infamy of German history." The message was published in the form of full-page advertisements in several newspapers by the Loyal Americans of German Descent.

Say Yiddish Talkie to Be Screened Here "Great"

"Green Fields," acknowledged by critics as the greatest American produced Yiddish talkie, will be shown in Indianapolis on Tuesday evening, Jan. 26, in Caleb Mills Hall at Shortridge High School, 34 and Pennsylvania Sts. The movie, produced under the direction of Edgar Ulmer and Jacob Ben-Ami, stars Isidore Casher, Helen Beverly and Hannah Paul, together with an all-star Yiddish cast. The story, by the well known Yiddish author, Peretz Hershbein, is one of his best, and the picture, which excels the book, has been shown to audiences throughout the nation.

JAP TROPHIES EMBARRASS RECIPIENTS: SABER MAY GO ON SCRAP HEAP

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—A Japanese saber nearly four feet long, slightly curved and covered with Japanese engraving, with a hilt of mother-of-pearl, arrived in the mail this week as a gift to the Abady family in Richmond, Va., from their son, Lieutenant Herman Abady, recuperating in a marine hospital on Guadalcanal from a gunshot wound in his left leg.

Herman himself originally got the saber as a gift—from the men in his outfit, after an attack against the Japs in Guadalcanal last August.

Accompanying the saber were some Japanese cigarettes and Japanese money, the possession of which seems slightly embarrassing to the Abady's, although with questionnaires designed to give the necessary information Teams have been formed with Jeanette Patnick and Lillia Chernin, co-chairmen, and six captains, Sadelle Bergman, Anr Calderon, Bess Calderon, Fritz Cohen, Frances Elkin, and Molly Passo.

Upon completion of the fact gathering in mid-January, the material will be given to the committee for analysis, and its recommendations will be submitted to the community.

Sisterhood Meeting to Follow Monday Luncheon

The Temple Sisterhood of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation will hold a dessert luncheon and meeting at 1:30 p. m. Monday, Jan. 11th. A five-minute talk will be given by Mr. Charles D. By G. M. C.

Have you heard that Rabbi Charry will be principal speaker for the Beth El Sisterhood meeting soon?

At a meeting Tuesday night at Kirshbaum Center, the subject of making the Sunday night suppers, and other meals held in the Center, completely Kosher by equipping the kitchen with all kosher utensils, was discussed by a group of rabbinical and lay leaders. At present a committee to investigate the need for a kosher kitchen at the center is studying the situation further. In Louisville the Y.M.H.A. kitchen there from which a Sunday night supper and a Sunday morning breakfast are served for the soldiers from Fort Knox is completely kosher. In addition the Louisville Mizrahi (Orthodox Zionists) serve two meals per week to the soldiers at Radcliffe, Ky., (forty miles from the city) but in the camp grounds, which are completely kosher.

I hear that the Beth El board has elected Janor S. Roskin and his wife Evelyn Borofsky Roskin, both talented musicians, as Musical Director and Organist of the congregation. Mr. Roskin is considered one of the leading authorities on Jewish music and Mrs. Roskin is one of Boston's outstanding organists. They will assist Cantor Glass, who of course, will continue in his present situation as Cantor.

Beth-El Sisterhood Commends F.D.R.

(Special)

SOUTH BEND—The Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El Monday passed resolutions commending President Franklin D. Roosevelt for his words bespeaking the sympathy of this nation for the victims of the Nazi terror in Europe and calling the perpetrators of that terror to strict accountability "in a day of reckoning that will surely come."

The resolutions, identical with those passed recently by the Conference Committee of the National Jewish Women's Organizations, of which the Sisterhood is a part, express the faith and hope that the American people and those of the United Nations will follow the President's example, giving assurance to agonized Jews in Europe that their sufferings shall find surcease and redress in a free and just world.

HAMMOND — Hammondites this week mourned the death of Mrs. Sylvia Miller Fox, long a social and civic leader of the community and the wife of Roland Fox, well-known merchant here.

Her death came as a shock to her many friends, especially among the city's younger social set.

Mrs. Fox suffered a cerebral hemorrhage at her home, a week ago and succumbed in St. Margaret's hospital Friday without regaining consciousness. She was 41 years old.

A resident of Hammond for 22 years, the deceased was active in Girl Scout activities, being a director of the council, until a few years ago when she gave up the work on her physician's advice.

She was a member of Temple Beth-El Sisterhood, and a charter member of Tri Kappa sorority.

Survivors include her husband, a daughter, Nancy, and a son, Jack.

Funeral services were held at Temple Beth-El with Rabbi A. J. Feinberg officiating. Burial took place in Elmwood cemetery.

A double unveiling will take place this Sunday at 2:30 p. m., at Sarah Tefillah Cemetery when monuments to Mrs. Bessie Joseph of Connersville, Ind., and her son, Jack Joseph of Zanesville, Ohio, will be dedicated. Mr. Joseph passed away six weeks after the death of his mother. Rabbi Nandor Fruchter, Rabbi David Shapiro and Cantor A. Portnov will officiate. Friends and relatives are invited to attend. Members of the family are Mrs. Jack Joseph and sons, Arthur and Stanley, of Zanesville, Ohio, Sam Joseph of Connersville, Mrs. Sam Koff of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Ruben Comet of Huntington, West Virginia.

The editor's chair,

Although she writes "Don't quote me in print" one of the leading Jewish women of Indianapolis penned this note to us: "This edition of The Post grand." She sends along a Feb. 7, 1930 issue of The Temple (Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation) Topics with an editorial entitled "Why Go To Temple?" Who wrote the piece, which is herewith quoted, I don't know, but on the editorial board at that time were Charles Feibleman, Myra Auerbach, Meyer Efroymsen, Carolyn Pincus and Ruth Greenberg.

"In Days of old, our forefathers went to Schul three times a day, morning afternoon and evening. They were on speaking terms with the Lord. Of him they sang, in sonorous Hebrew,

"He is my God, my living God;

To Him I flee when tried in grief;

My banner high, my refuge strong.

Who hears and answers when I call."

"No need was there for them to ask themselves, 'Why go to the House of the Lord?' It was to them second nature, the habit of their lives, part and parcel of their being.

"Today, we, their indifferent descendants, are ruled by reason. We must use argument and logic to justify once-a-week Temple attendance.

"May I tell you why I go to Temple?

"Because when I was a child, my mother and father went, and took me with them. Bring up a child in the way he should go and when he is old, he will not depart therefrom.

"Because the Sabbath brings blessings to the heart, work-day thoughts and cares are put aside, and I enjoy the calm and restful worship of the Shabbath.

"I go to join in ritual and response and sing the sacred songs. Not all of my religion is in my Rabbi's name. I want a little of my own. Ah, but you say you are not religious. Will you still say so when you remember the prophet Micah thus defined religion, 'To do justice, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?'

"I go because there are six

A Prodigious Achievement

THE PRODIGIOUS accomplishment of the Indianapolis lodge of B'nai B'rith in selling war bonds at its rally New Year's eve will go down in Indiana and national lodge history as one of the finest achievements ever of any local lodge. The success is hard to encompass on paper.

In fact, the slumbering giant has awakened. The Post has repeatedly castigated the local lodge for its failure to carry out the mandate of the strength manifested in it as the largest Jewish organization in Indiana. Often the local lodge has not only been surpassed in ordinary efforts by smaller lodges throughout the State, but local men's organization of much less significance have to their credit work done which shamed the order by comparison.

But no longer need the B'nai B'rith in Indianapolis alibi for itself that all its leaders have gone to the army, that its workers are occupied elsewhere in other activities and so on. For whatever the Indianapolis lodge wants to do, it now knows it can do, and do to perfection.

National fame and recognition came to St. Louis's 51,000 Jews when the B'nai B'rith lodges of that city joined together to sell $1,910,090.00 in war bonds. Louisville, with a population almost equal to that of Indianapolis, saw its lodge take a bow when it added $760,000.00 to the war bond sale. Now comes the Indianapolis Jewish community, marshalled together under the aegis of B'nai B'rith and takes its rightful place as the leading Jewish community of the nation, bar none.

B'nai B'rith in Indianapolis has redeemed itself from a community standpoint. There is and should be no limit, except the bounds of its own imagination, to the record of achievement that the Indianapolis lodge can now begin to pile up for itself.

The Great Betrayal

IT WAS ISAIAH, the prophet, who long ago pathetically exclaimed, "Your destroyers and your despoilers will arise from among you". How tragic is our plight, how sad is our existence. When all our energies, all our supreme efforts should be bent towards the amelioration of the catastrophic position in which the Jew finds himself; when we should be laboring to safeguard that which we have created, when we should unitedly sit in council and plan how to frustrate the evil designs of our enemies who unitedly and efficiently are exterminating millions of our brethren and nullifying years of hard toil and achievement, when we should, behind a united front, be beckoning to those able to aid us to come to our rescue, we find instead the House of Israel being split, weakened and betrayed.

A group of some ninety Reform Rabbis still clinging to the old outworn and outdated reform philosophy of Judaism, now permit themselves the luxury of debating and attempting to prove that we are not a nation but merely a religious group, (as if that matters to our enemies) and thereby to discredit Zionism and Palestine as a Jewish homeland. Nationalism, the lofty and righteous type of Jewish nationalism as expressed in the phrase "A Holy Nation", of which the Torah speaks and the prophets speak, and to which Israel clung throughout the dark centuries, and which was advocated by the greatest and holiest souls and minds of Israel, and which is so vital to our future life and existence—this Nationalism, these staunch, erudite religionists are laboriously attempting to sabotage, to frustrate all our hopes, dreams, plans and labors; all under the guise of a false universalism and a misreading and misinterpreting of the prophets.

I would ask these "crusaders" in the name of which Judaism or religion are they combatting Zionism. It can only be in the name of their type of Judaism which they have bankrupted and emptied of all spiritual content and practice, which they have made sterile, cold and unappealing, by the abrogation and discarding of mitzvot, customs and observances, that they cannot justify Zionism. Perhaps they are justified in forming a Council for American Judaism, for in truth, theirs is a new brand which is not prophetic Judaism, nor traditional Judaism, nor the Judaism that the Jew has practiced for centuries and which fortified his existence. Perhaps in their new brand, Zionism, which aims at the preservation of the Jew and Jewish religious values and culture cannot find a place. If anything, this "religious crusade" as they choose to designate their organized battle against Zionism is rather a Jerome Frank movement against the Jew and Judaism. It is self-hate hidden behind a false front of anti-nationalism and cloaked in the shibboleths of Universalism which prompts this zealous battle against Nationalism.

American Jewry must now rise, not as Zionists, but as Jews and combat with all its strength these betrayers of our cause. We must gird our loins and enter this conflict with added zeal and greater devotion. Greater must become the enrollment of members in the Zionist ranks. More religion and more religious participation must be our answer to those who under a false guise desire less of the Jew and still less of Judaism. The majority of Israel must now speak vociferously to stay the deeds of our own destroyers and despoilers. This great betrayal must not succeed. In the name of justice, in the name of unity, we condemn them and their plans.—RABBI IRVING A. WEINGART.

The Laity of Tomorrow

IT IS ALREADY a truism beyond necessity of further proof that the spiritual future of our people depends upon our educational system. As we view Jewish education today, we find a situation which offers little encouragement for a more enlightened lay leadership in days to come. Our present Hebrew School system is filled with self-defeating evils. Our Talmud Torahs at best are able to give the child merely one to two hours of daily instruction, and this only after a long weary day of public school work. It is readily understandable then, that the child's efficiency is low by the time he reaches the Hebrew School. As a result of such conditions, many parents who may have a sincere desire to give their child a Hebrew education, refrain from doing so for fear of overtaxing him unduly, and depriving him of his playtime. Then, there are those parents who are torn between two loves—Hebrew education on the one hand, and the finer arts such as music, drama, or dancing on the other. Naturally the latter wins out in the majority of cases, for where is a child to find time for all these pursuits? Finally, there is that group which advocates Jewish education only insofar as it teaches a boy his Bar Mitzvah—not a training of several years which would give him a background and knowledge to guide him in later life, but rather a rushed period of study in which he barely has time to master essentials. Thus, with his less than basic training, he gives a theatrical performance known as the "Bar Mitzvah Ceremony", and with this grand finale his formal Jewish education is concluded just as it has begun.

We are, therefore, confronted today with gross "am-horatzus", widespread ignorance of Jewish learning, which is veritably threatening the continuance of Judaism.

To combat this lack of knowledge and this indifference, we must focus our attention on youth. Although there are many protagonists of adult education, we must realize its shortcomings. Adults are set in their beliefs, have well-defined habits that are for the most part inflexible, and are more interested in being entertained than taught. Religions must be inculcated at a very early age in order to be appreciated and observed in later life. This can best be accomplished by means of Hebrew parochial schools, where the child can be indoctrinated with the principles of Judaism while he is yet at an impressionable age. Secular knowledge and Jewish education must be considered of equal importance, and for good results in both, parochial schools should be advocated. While the public school atmosphere makes a child indifferent, if not antagonistic, towards religion, and places many obstacles in the way

WASHINGTON — Reliable reports here state that a political alliance between Henry Ford and William Randolph Hearst, looking towards Ford's seeking the presidential nomination in 1924, is in the offing. The Hearst columnist, Arthur Brisbane, recently praised Mr. Ford highly although depreciating his anti-Semitism.

LONDON—Reports are circulating in Jewish circles here that Dr. Weizmann has offered his resignation to the executive committee of the Zionist Organization, as a result of criticism of the financial difficulties in which the organization finds itself. Several members of the executive board, however, deny that Dr. Weizmann plans to resign and added that if he did proffer his resignation it would be refused.

BUCHAREST—Despite increased anti-Jewish violence and agitation in Rumania the directors of the nations' leading universities have decided to reject the demand of reactionary student groups that the "numerous clausus" be introduced to restrict the number of Jews who may enter the colleges.

other nights for social visits, cards, movies, talkies, the theatre, and my reserved seat in the House of the Lord awaits me, whether or no. Friday night belongs to the Temple."

No doubt you've noticed the editorials by the State rabbis now appearing in The Post. These editorials were arranged for, because I planned to be away for a long time, but when I got back after only a two-week absence, the reaction to these editorials had been so excellent, that I urged the rabbis (and they have been kind enough to) to continue writing them. These editorials have earned more favorable comment for us than anything we've done in a long while. Now comes one of the rabbis, Rabbi Aaron M. Rine of South Bend, and from the other side of the fence, and expresses the same views in these words: "Permit me to congratulate you on the policy you have inaugurated on the editorial page. The varied opinions and exhortations of the rabbis certainly give added sparkle to the paper."

AL SEGAL Speaks On THIS LAYMAN

THERE is distress in a section of Israel because a group of reform rabbis has organized a campaign against the idea of a Jewish state, in favor of a purely religious concept of Judaism for the development of Palestine without Jewish statehood.

These rabbis have been all but excommunicated from the house of Israel by some of the brethren who seem to believe that a "Jewish state" is as much an essential of Judaism as the immaculate conception, the virgin birth, transubstantiation and the resurrection are of Christianity.

They feel especially outraged because the rabbis have said that a majority of American Jews do not favor a Jewish state. Their voices have been so loud for Jewish statehood that they have come sincerely to believe that the tumult is the sound of all Israel demanding a Jewish state.

I am aware that I am sticking my neck out and tempting the axe to fall on it. But it is time for frank discussion among laymen who, awed by the profundities of the professionals, have been keeping their mouths shut.

There has been a lot of confusion about Palestine among the laymen, which the statehood advocates haven't taken the trouble to clear up and may have encouraged even. So that many a citizen is counted in favor of a Jewish state when all he is thinking of is a Palestine made a safe and happy place for homeless Jews to settle and work in.

Let us take the case of this layman, Segal. He is like most of the other laymen in Israel in that he hopes to see Palestine made to flow with milk and honey again by dislocated Jews who will find friendly haven there. He does not envisage a Jewish political state in Palestine.

Several years ago he was prevailed upon to join his local Zionist organization. He paid $5 dues. He had no idea of joining a political party dedicated to the purpose of establishing a Jewish state. He thought, well, this $5 of mine may plant a couple of olive trees or help to start an orange grove.

He dropped out of the Zionist organization the next year. His mind had come to a more definite clarity on the difference between being in favor of planting olive trees and being a member of a political party that had to do with setting up a new state.

Yet until his dues ran out he was counted as a party member—one of a hypothetical multitude of irridentists striving toward the restoration of a Jewish state which had been out of existence 2000 years.

He wonders how many more there are like him—people who for the sake of olive trees and work and home for homeless Jews permit themselves to be enrolled in the Zionist organization on the side of a Jewish state.

He thinks that for the sake of enlightening many confused minds there should be a complete public clarification of the two sides of the Palestine shield—something like this:

"Yes, ladies and gentlemen, there are two ways of thinking of Palestine. There is the political way that thinks of Palestine as a future Jewish state over a Jewish nation.

"The other way has no political concepts at all. It thinks of Palestine as a place for colonizing Jews whose political status shall be the same as Jews in other liberal countries where Jews are settled. They shall share in the government with other elements of the population, as Jews in the United States, for example."

If the matter were presented to them in this light, this layman Segal doubts very much that a majority of the American Jews would vote for a Jewish state. His opinion is based on an extensive association with non-professional Jews with whom he plays rummy or poker, or at whom he tosses medicine balls at the gym, or with whom he takes lunch at the counter in the Wheel Cafe. He hasn't much to do with the professionals.

Like himself, other Jewish laymen are deeply troubled by the concept of a Jewish national homeland. They know only one homeland—this America. They don't want to be put in an ambiguous position in which they will always have to be explaining their national identity to people who wonder just where a Jew thinks his homeland is: Here or in Palestine? There are problems enough without another one being added.

Besides, here and nowhere else IS the homeland; here where they are already deep-rooted, this America to which they owe all they are and hope to be, for which their children have gone away to battle. There can be no other national homeland, real or implied, for American Jews.

Yes, Segal and many others like him are willing that Palestine shall be home for homeless Jews, just as America is home for the four million Jews who inhabit it. They are unwilling to be counted in, or counted out, as a people who are somehow of another nation and another country. They are unwilling to be taken and lumped together in a national homeland identity, even remote, that they don't want.

Sometime Segal is told with that contemptuous air of superiority that the professionals like to affect, that he is one of those Jews who are afraid of what other people think. True, he does desire the good opinion of men; he seeks to avoid further causes of misunderstanding. He is quite tired of explaining himself.

He is not influenced, though, by what other people might think if he were a Jewish nationalist. He simply can't think of any other national allegiance but American; he is not of Palestine at all.

Yet such is his hope to see Palestine made a good country for Jews to live in that he fears a Jewish state which would have to live under siege of aggrieved Arabs who, it must be confessed, themselves have a pretty good claim on Palestine. It couldn't be a happy home that was beset by hostile elements resentful to see a Jewish state imposed on them.

He keeps on contributing toward the building of a Palestine that, he hopes, will be a Shangri-la for Jews but not a political state. It can not be simultaneously a Shangri-la and a Jewish state, surrounded by bitter enemies. Occasionally Segal has a tree planted in Palestine in memory of a friend.

That's the case of layman Segal and I commend him to the merciful consideration of the nationalists; there are multitudes of Jews like him and you can't excommunicate them all. I ask for similar mercy for the dissident rabbis.

communities as well. The example of our Catholic neighbors who have established parochial schools in cities large and small might well be taken to heart.

True, the financial burden of such a system may be great, but is it not worth all our effort and energy to create a generation of enlightened Jewish people that will form the leaders and laity of tomorrow? The dividends reaped from such an investment will yield compound interest in years to come. Let us make use of the opportunity afforded us in this blessed "land of the free," where parochial school education can be effected. The sooner we realize the full implication of the commandment, "and thou shall teach them diligently unto thy children," and regard the admonition of our Sages, "gourge him (the child) as an ox," the sooner will we solve one of the greatest Jewish problems in America today, namely, Jewish education; and insure an intelligent lay leadership.—RABBI AARON M. RINE.

SPIRITUAL LEADERS NEGLECT DUTIES.

LETTER STATES

To the Editor:

Alfred Dobrowitz in his letter to you last week touched a matter of paramount importance to the Jewish Community of Indianapolis, and that is our attitude towards matters of vital interest to ourselves.

Recently we had the sorry spectacle of a National Jewish Organization in our city sponsor a public dinner with a "treifah" menu, and sorrier still was the fact that none of our spiritual leaders took any kind of firm stand to protest against this flagrant breach of Jewish Law.

Our Rabbis complain that they do not have the support of the community, and in this respect it should be respectfully pointed out to them, that in view of the resentment expressed against this affair much could have been accomplished in the right direction had our leaders taken steps in the proper quarters.

It is to be hoped that our leaders will unhesitatingly take such steps as are necessary to prevent a repetition, and this is being written with the Welfare Dinner in mind, we can and should contribute to this worthy cause, but there is no need whatsoever to hold up our Jewish Laws to public ridicule.

In keeping with this subject of our disinterest to matters of importance to us, there is another instance where our leaders, both spiritual and lay, were sadly neglectful in their duties, this is the lamentable fact that no public meeting was held in protest of the Nazi's bestial systematic extermination of hundreds of thousands of human beings in Eastern Europe.

Most communities all over the United States held large public meetings where both the representatives of the Christian church and the Jewish communities assembled together on a common platform to publicly condemn these atrocious acts of inhumanity, and these condemnations do arouse public opinion.

Recently a delegation was received in Washington by Mr. Sumner Wells, who stated that it was with much regret that he could inform the delegation that the State Department had received its own confirmation of the news in the press of the atrocities, and suggested that it was left to the Jewish people to pray, and at the same time hold meetings and arouse public opinion.

Yet we in Indianapolis did not even murmur our protest. What are we thinking of, where do we think we are going? Jewry of Indianapolis WAKE UP, we are asleep, we are drugged by the chloroform of apparent security, isolationists all of us.

I sincerely trust that this letter will serve its purpose to prod our leaders into action and that the community will follow their lead and thereby not fail in one of the most momentous periods of all history.

PERCY SIMMONS.

Indianapolis, Ind.

Editor's note: In our issue of Dec. 25, Rabbi David S. Shapiro wrote about the dinner Mr. Simmons referred to: "...and topping everything else, a delicious dinner consisting of fresh shrimp (on the verge of becoming the Jewish national fish) cocktail. That is how a Jewish community celebrates the close of one of the most disastrous years in Jewish history." On the point about the public protest meeting, a synagogue or rabbinical council in Indianapolis, the formation of which The Post has urged for the past 3 years, would have seen that such a gathering had been held.

DOBROWITZ LETTER IS PRAISED

BY LOUIS SAKOWITZ

To the Editor:

I wish to express my admiration for printing in the "Freedom of the Press" column, the article written by Mr. Alfred Dobrowitz in your last issue.

I realize that it took courage on your part to publish this article and your readers should be encouraged to express their honest opinions for the good and welfare of the community.

To me it was a source of inspiration to know that idealism still flourishes among our Jewish youth while our elders stand by without a word of protest or criticism.

Our leaders in our so-called Houses of Worship, should be men of virtue and character as described in the book of Exodus who do not judge its members by the amount of wealth they may possess. Our press should also be fearless and not hesitate to speak the truth even though it hurts.

of Jewish living, and in the observance of Jewish holidays and practices, the parochial school would instill a love for Torah and religion, and a desire to live Jewishly. The Hebrew parochial school would create Jews proud of their name.

To those who fear that Hebrew parochial schools breed un-Americanism, it is well to point out that all subjects of the Public School curriculum are taught, and the children are likewise given an understanding and love for all American institutions. For those who are constantly living in fear of "what will the neighbors say," it is good to remember that one of the most effective methods to further anti-defamation and good-will is the creation of a people versed in their tradition and Law—an honest, G-d-fearing generation.

Let us then not limit the benefits of parochial education to the larger metropolitan centers, but think of establishing such schools in the smaller
